1. Policy – AHTA recognizes that the sport of Eventing/Horse Trials has an inherent risk of injury to horse and rider. It is the policy of AHTA to actively promote safe practices within the sport of Eventing/Horse Trials. AHTA will support all safety related initiatives of the Canadian Eventing Committee of EC.
2. Riders – Are responsible to know and understand Equestrian Canada Rules. Riders should expect to compete at Events/Horse Trials on courses that are safe in design and construction and at competitions run by officials familiar with the rules governing the sport. Riders have a right and responsibility to inspect a course and facilities before any competition and to make a personal evaluation of suitability. Riders should report unsafe conditions to organizers, and officials as soon as possible. Riders, while recognizing the risks associated with their sport and their ultimate responsibility for safety, should also expect an adequate level of emergency response to accident or injury. Riders are ultimately responsible for choosing the correct level of competition for themselves and their horse.
3. Horses – Horses shall be treated humanely. Horses must not be pressed beyond their apparent limit of endurance or ability during the duration of the competition. Equipment, facilities and obstacles must be appropriate and well constructed. Riders, coaches, organizers and officials have inherent responsibility to report horse abuse or unsafe conditions that may or may contribute to an injury of a horse. An adequate level of emergency response in case of accident or injury will be available.
4. Organizers – It is the responsibility of the organizer to provide a well constructed course suitable for the level of competition and consistent with the level of competition within the nation. Organizers should be able to provide enjoyable and safe competitions for riders and horses by following the published rules and regulations governing the sport. Riders are ultimately responsible for deciding when and where to compete and for competing at a suitable level for themselves and for their horse.
5. Officials – Officials at Events/Horse Trials will follow the published rules and regulations governing the sport. Follow through with any relevant reporting or disciplinary action they are within their rights to complete as an official of an EC sanctioned event.
